EXAMPLE SPELLBOOKS

Here are some suggestions for NPC wizard spellbooks. The spells selected reflect what an adventurer might use.

BASE NUMBER OF SPELLS PER LEVEL

As their levels increase, wizards get a small number of spells they can add to their spellbooks. The Example Spellbooks presented here assume the wizard begins play with an Intelligence score of 14 or 15 and that the two free spells usually are allocated to the highest spell level the wizard can cast. It is further assumed that the wizard spends a modest amount of cash on additional spells (always a good idea). The table below shows the number of spells the wizard has at each character level and how much money the wizard must spend to have that number of spells.

*S*These are the 16 cantrips from the Player’s Handbook. Wizards who have chosen to specialize in a school of magic will have fewer cantrips than this because they cannot have spells from opposing schools in their spellbooks. With your DM’s approval, you can substitute other cantrips (such as the repair minor damage cantrip from Tome and Blood for the cantrips in the Player’s Handbook).

These are spells for which the wizard pays to add to the book. The number before the slash is the base cost to write the spells into the book if the spell is obtained from another wizard’s spellbook, The number after the slash shows the total cost if the wizard has to obtain the spell by purchasing a scroll (base cost to scribe the spell plus the market price of the scroll).

†Plus one extra first-level spell per point of Intelligence bonus (2 spells if the wizard begins play with an Intelligence score of 14 or 15).

‡Plus the bonus 1st-level spells the wizard gained at 1st level (2 spells if the wizard begins play with an Intelligence score of 14 or 15). Wizards who increase their Intelligence scores later in the their careers, the extra Intelligence doesn’t give them any additional 1st-level spells for their spellbooks.

THE COMPLETE BLADESINGER

It seems there is an imposter lurking on pages 49 and 50. It’s a bladesinger alright, but there are a few pieces missing. Here’s the complete version:

BLADESINGER

Bladesingers are elves who have blended art, swordplay, and arcane magic into a harmonious whole. In battle, a bladesinger’s lithe movements and subtle tactics seem beautiful, and belie their deadly martial efficiency.

Multiclassed fighter/wizards can become bladesingers most easily, though any elf who can wield a martial weapon and can cast arcane spells can become a bladesinger. Bladesinging ranger/wizards, rogue/wizards and bladesinger bards are not unknown.

Bladesingers command great respect in most elf communities and NPC bladesingers usually serve as itinerant guardians and champions of the elf community at large.

Hit Die: d8

Requirements

To qualify to become a bladesinger, a character must fulfill all the following criteria.

Race: Elf, half-elf.

Base Attack: +5

Feats: Combat Casting, Dodge, Expertise, Still Spell, Weapon Focus (longsword)

Skills: Concentration 4+ ranks, Perform 3+ ranks (dance, sing, + any 1 other), Tumble 3+ ranks

Special: Proficient with longsword, ability to cast 1st-level arcane spells

Class Skills

The bladesinger’s class skills (and the key ability for each skill) are Balance (Dex), Concentration (Con), Jump (Str), Knowledge (arcana) (Int), Perform (Cha), Spellcraft (Int), Tumble (Dex).

Skill Points at Each Level: 2+Int modifier

Class Features

All of the following are class features of the bladesinger:

Weapon and Armor Proficiency: The bladesinger gains proficiency in the use of no weapons and with light armor.

If the bladesinger wears medium or heavy armor, he loses all benefits of any of his song abilities (bladesong, lesser, spellsong, song of celerity, greater spellsong, song of fury).

A bladesinger suffers the normal arcane spell failure chance when casting spells while armored (except as noted below).

Bladesong: When wielding a longsword in one hand (and nothing in the other), the bladesinger gains a dodge bonus to AC equal to his Intelligence bonus.

Lesser Spellsong: When wielding a longsword in one hand (and nothing in the other), the bladesinger can “take 10” when making a Concentration check to cast defensively.

Song of Celerity: When wielding a longsword in one hand (and nothing in the other) and using the full attack action, the bladesinger can cast one bladesinger spell each round as a free action.

Greater Spellsong: The bladesinger ignores arcane spell failure when wearing light armor.

Song of Fury: When wielding a longsword in one hand (and nothing in the other) and using the full attack action, the bladesinger can cast one bladesinger spell each round as a free action.

attack action, the bladesinger can make one extra attack in a round at his highest base attack, but this attack and each other attack made that round suffer a –2 penalty. This penalty applies for 1 round, so it affects attacks of opportunity the bladesinger might make before his next action.

Bonus Feats: The bladesinger gets a bonus feat. These feats must be drawn from the following list: Any Metamagic feat, Combat Reflexes, Improved Critical (longsword), Improved Disarm, Mobility, Quick Draw, Spring Attack, Whirlwind Attack.

Spells per Day: Every level a bladesinger gains, the character gains new spells per day as shown. When casting bladesinger spells, the bladesinger's caster level is equal to his bladesinger level. A bladesinger's bonus spells are based on Intelligence. The Difficulty Class for saving throws against bladesinger spells is 10 + the spell's level + the bladesinger's Intelligence modifier.

A bladesinger keeps a spellbook and must prepare spells each day as a wizard does. He can have any number of bladesinger spells in his spellbook (see Writing a New Spell into a Spellbook, Player's Handbook, page 155). At levels 1 through 9, a bladesinger gain two spells he can add to his spellbook free. These spells must be bladesingers spells the character can cast.
